EDITORIAL COMMENT

Call 449 if you fail to get the Kentuckian promptly. And if you have a news item, phone it to the same number.

Goodbye, April. You've kept us guessing what you would do next, but after all you have left us in the midst of delightful spring weather.

Three more stars have been added to the service flag of the First Baptist church—Dr. F. P. Thomas, Cyrus M. Williamson and Vernon Pepper. There are perhaps others not recalled.

Some of the ladies are indignant because S. Y. Trimble said in his speech the other night that they ought to wear less clothing. They think he wants to get them arrested.

Col. E. D. Jones has moved from his farm to this city and until he can secure possession of his own house has temporarily rented the Crenshaw cottage on South Main. His next door neighbors are Irving Roseborough and Lewis Elgin and the Colonel says he will bring in a flock of guineas and start a campaign to make his neighbors get up at 4 o'clock in the morning.

The name of Richard H. Waller, of Georgetown, appears in the new list of Kentuckians to be commissioned as Second Lieutenants. The name is somewhat misleading, but this is a Hopkinstown boy. R. Herndon Waller, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Waller, who entered the service from Scott county and has just graduated from the Camp Taylor Training School for officers.

The Princess Marie Antoinette, mother of Empress Zita has been ordered to leave Austria within twenty-four hours and not re-enter that country until the termination of the war, according to a dispatch from Geneva. Empress Zita has been blamed by the pro-German party in her husband's empire as being responsible for Emperor Charles' now famous letter to Prince Sixtus of Bourbon, his brother-in-law, in which he made overtures for peace to France. Anti-Teutonic tendencies have been attributed to the empress because of her Bourbon descent.

FOLLOWING THE FLAG.

Forty-three instead of 42 young men left for Louisville Sunday, one name being added to the quota announced for Christian county. The additional one was Nobel T. Morse. The alternates were on hand when the train left at 5:44, but it was not necessary for them to go.

James A. Parker, a young man who has been working for the Metcalfe laundry, was enlisted yesterday for special service by Sergt. Hamilton, the local recruiting officer.

Wm. H. Reese, son of P. M. Reese, left yesterday for Owensboro to enlist in the Navy.

Dr. J. B. Jackson, who is over the Army age, has volunteered for service in the volunteer Medical Service Corps authorized by the Council of National Defense. The members of this organization stand ready to render assistance whenever needed.

DEATH AT CROFTON.

Murdoch McIntosh died at his home in Crofton yesterday morning, aged 75 years. He had been ill three weeks, suffering from flag erysipelas caused by a fall sustained while at work in his blacksmith shop. Mr. McIntosh was a most esteemed citizen and a member of the Christian church. His wife, one daughter and three brothers survive. Funeral services will be held at his late residence today and the interment will take place in the Foster burying ground.

PNEUMONIA VICTIM.

Coleman Eugene Uselton, three-month-old son of Mitchell Uselton, died at the home of his parents in the city Sunday of pneumonia. Interment at Riverside cemetery Sunday.

WILL REACH THE $600,000

LIBERTY LOAN SUBSCRIPTIONS CONTINUE TO APPROACH MAXIMUM SOUGHT.

Yesterday a subscription of $5,000 from the W. O. W. was received from Auditor R. A. Wells. The following letter explains itself:

April 26, 1918.
Mr. Lucian Davis,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Dear Sir:
The Woodmen of the World is taking One Million Dollars worth of Liberty Bonds of the Third Liberty Loan, and it gives me pleasure to authorize you to represent me in Christian county, and place a subscription of $5,000.00 for the Woodmen of the World, to be credited to Christian county, and assist the members of this great fraternity in raising their required quota.

We are placing this Million Dollars worth of Liberty Bonds to the credit of the various States and different counties where the members of this order reside, in order that they may fully realize that they belong to a great fraternity that is patriotic in every branch of its service. I do not happen to know who is the chairman of the Third Liberty Loan drive for Christian county, and will ask you to call upon him and give to him this subscription for the Woodmen of the World and will ask that these bonds be delivered through either the Merchants National Bank, or the Federal Reserve National Bank, of Omaha, Nebraska, without cost to the Woodmen of the World for transmission.

We have consulted the Chairman of the Nebraska Federal Reserve Bank, and he says this can be done by simply notifying the Federal Bank of this district to have the bonds delivered direct to the Woodmen of the World and that Christian county will get credit for this subscription. I wish to state that I rejoice with you in the great subscription that Kentucky has made for Liberty Bonds in this Third Loan, and hope that this subscription of $5,000.00, on behalf of the Woodmen of the World, will assist your county in making a splendid record and will ask you to notify the Woodmen of this county of this subscription and extend to them my greetings.

Fraternalty yours,

RAINEY T. WELLS.

Three billion now in sight.

(By International News Service.)

Washington, April 29.—With 76 percent of the minimum of the Third Liberty Loan already subscribed, the last week of the campaign began today. With the three billion asked as minimum fairly in sight, but confronting an increasing effort to obtain the sort of oversubscription expected, the reports tonight show total subscriptions of $2,283,301,850.

CHICKEN STEALING NOW CLASSIFIED AS FELONY.

(By International News Service.)

Memphis, Tenn., April 29.—Chicken stealing is no longer regarded as a misdemeanor by Memphis courts. It is a crime—a felony. Persons who visit hen roosts between two days and make away with fat pullets intended for the Sunday dinner when the preacher comes, have had ample warning through the sentence imposed upon the Allen, confessed king of all chicken thieves. Bud has just been sentenced to five years in the State penitentiary for stealing chickens. To steal a chicken is only petty larceny and the heaviest punishment is a fine of $50 or a short term in the workhouse. The courts have held recently that a charge of burglary may also be entered against the chicken thief who breaks into the hen coop. A term of five years may be imposed for burglary.

OVERMAN BILL PASSED 63 TO 13

ONLY ONE DEMOCRAT, REED OF MISSOURI, VOTED AGAINST THE MEASURE IN SENATE.

(By International News Service.)

Washington, April 29.—The Overman bill was passed by Senate tonight by a vote of 63 to 13, all opponents but one, Reed, of Missouri, being Republicans.

7 SOLDIERS BURNED ALIVE

A BRITISH WHITE PAPER ON THE BRUTAL KILLING OF A SAILOR AT BRANDENBURG.

New York, April 29.—Evidence that a British seaman named John Genower, taken prisoner by the Germans in the battle of the Skagerrak, was deliberately permitted to burn to death, together with a French soldier and five Russians, in a flimsy board cell in the German prison camp at Brandenburg in March, last year, and that when he attempted to get away from the flames behind him by trying to squeeze through the narrow window, was bayoneted by the sentry and thrust back into the fire, has just been made public by the British government in the White Paper, copies of which reached here a few days ago through official sources.

The White Paper, comprising the correspondence of the British government through the Dutch legation in Berlin with the German government, shows that the former endeavored from April 28 to Sept. 3 to ascertain from the later the facts in the case and that as the result of four printed foolscap pages of correspondence comprising some 2,500 words, it obtains two responses. The first admitted that John Genower died at Brandenburg camp "on the 9th March last in consequence of burns." The second asserted that the British story "does not in any way correspond with the fact," and added that to say that "the prisoners who tried to get out through the windows were attacked by him (the sentry) with a bayonet is a malicious fabrication."

The thorough judicial investigation held on the matter shows that no blame for the regrettable incident attaches to any of the German staff.

Against this the White Paper cites "a report by eight Spanish seamen who were captured from the steamship Gravina by a German submarine," and while interned in the Brandenburg Camp witnessed the burning of the prison cell with the prisoners in it, seeing the sentry give Genower, struggling in the window, "a tremendous bayonet thrust in the chest," afterward "reddening his bayonet again and again with the blood of the other men shut up"; an extract from the report of Captain C. V. Fox, D. S. O., of the Scots Guards, who was imprisoned in the Brandenburg Camp in July, and, before escaping, heard the story from the other prisoners, and the accounts of "two prisoners of war formerly interned at Brandenburg," who witnessed the occurrence and confirmed the Spaniards' version of it.

The conclusion of the British foreign office, from the correspondence, taking note of the version of one of the witnesses that the reason for the sentry's action was that he dare not let the prisoners get out without an order from his under officer, who was not there, is:

"All comment upon action which results in the burning alive of helpless prisoners of war seems superfluous."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Rev. Everett S. Smith and others will speak at the Christian church in Crofton. The speaking will be in the interest of the Men and Millions Movement. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Violent and Successive Attacks Along the Flanders Front Were Repeatedly Repulsed Yesterday and All Lines Maintained Intact—Slaughter of Huns Very Great.

(By International News Service.)
YPRES BEND UNBROKEN.

London, April 29.—"Suicide corner," the Ypres bend, remains unbroken and many thousands of picked German fighters who tried to test the truth of the name are dead or wounded at the end of an all-day battle in which General von Arnim tried vainly for a break through, from dawn until dusk and on far into the night, German infantry legions were hurled against the Southern and Southwestern approaches. Everywhere the allied line held like granite. The attacks had been planned on a gigantic scale but were repulsed by the heroic Britons who are holding firmly and undismayed at the end of the day.

London, April 29.—The text of tonight's British statement says: "Following a bombardment of great intensity, Franco-British positions from the neighborhood of Meteren to Zillebeke Lake were violently attacked this morning by a large force. Attacks were also made against the Belgian lines to the North of Ypres. Fighting of great intensity developed rapidly along whole Allied front. The 25th, 49th and 21st divisions repulsed every attempt to enter their positions and despite a succession of determined attacks in great strength maintained all lines intact. The enemy's losses very heavy."

Still Slaughtering Huns.
London, April 29.—"Enemy's losses are heavy," says tonight's report from Field Marshal Haig. "French positions on Hill A, around Scherpenberg and Mount Rouge, in Flanders, Southwest of Ypres, near Loere, have been heavily attacked."

Germany Claims 7100 Prisoners.
Berlin, April 29.—Since the storming of Mount Kemmel, the Germans in Flanders have taken 7,100 prisoners, including 181 officers, captured 53 guns and 243 machine guns. These figures were announced by the war department today.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 29.—Only two of the fifty-one Indiana cities having a population of 5,000 or more are without German alien enemies, according to figures just compiled by Mark Storen, United States Marshal. They are Hartford City and Crawfordsville. Alien enemies registered in the State number 10,849.

Washington, April 29.—President Wilson and the cabinet are expected to pass finally upon the estimates for army expansion tomorrow. It is no longer a secret that the estimates now in hand will raise the army strength to 3,000,000 men.

588 TOLL OF U-BOAT RAIDS

16 OFFICERS AND 144 MEN ARE KILLED IN ATTACK ON OSTEND AND ZEEBRUGGE.

London, April 27.—The total British casualties in the operations on Tuesday against Zeebrugge and Ostend, were 588, according to an official announcement tonight. These were divided as follows:
Officers killed, 16; died of wounds, 3; missing, 2; wounded, 29.
Men killed, 144; died of wounds, 25; missing, 14; wounded, 355.

ONLY 3 LOST

(By International News Service.)
London, April 29.—The latest reports regarding the torpedoing of the Y. M. C. A. ship, Oronsa, a British steamer of 8,675 tons, near English coast, yesterday, are to the effect that only three are missing. They are members of the crew. The total number aboard the vessel was 265, including 110 passengers. Sixty Americans were aboard and all were saved.

THOUSAND SALOONS QUIT.

Tonight at midnight one thousand saloons will close their doors in the city of Chicago and will not open again as saloons, but will open for other lines of business. Tomorrow is the beginning of a new license period and it is estimated that 1000 saloons will not attempt to renew their license. This condition has been brought about by war conditions, the spread of prohibition and the teaching of thrift to the masses. If 1000 saloons should close tonight the total number closed during the present administration will represent more than one-fourth of the total in business at the beginning. The number remaining will be approximately five thousand. These estimates are made by Charles J. Forsberg, City Collector.

WHAT SOLDIERS ALWAYS CARRY INTO BATTLE.

In an article in the April American Magazine a writer says: "There are two things the soldier always carry with them: photographs of the 'home folks' and letters from the 'home folks.' The pictures, often with a small Testament, are always in the breast pocket, over the heart. I think they some times are put there as a kind of charm to ward off bullets. Anyway, that's where they always are. And the look in a man's face when he shows you the picture of his mother, his wife, his children, and you say—as you always do—that they are very beautiful, will bring tears to your own eyes. "And those packages of letters. They carry them around for months and read them over and over until the creases are so worn the sheets will hardly hold together."

MAY 5TH IS GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY IN KENTUCKY MILLION EXPECTED.

Everybody should begin now to make arrangements to attend Sunday School next Sunday. Fine programs will be prepared and carried out in all the churches and you will find it interesting to attend your choice of the several schools. Many new members will be enrolled and every member who has not been making it a practice of staying away should be present next Sunday. Fine results are expected and no less than a million people should be present.

Early in 1914 the officers of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, at the suggestion of the General Secretary, decided to designate the first Sunday in May as Go-to-Sunday-School Day and to ask each Sunday School to observe that day. The Governor of the State issued a proclamation calling upon all the people of the State to attend Sunday School, newspapers published invitations, posters were put up over cities and towns, calls were made; in short, about everybody in Kentucky must have heard about Go-to-Sunday-School Day and received an invitation or two to attend Sunday School.

From the beginning the movement was a success, and it has become an annual custom of Kentucky Sunday Schools to have a Go-to-Sunday-School Day. This year the call is issued to every man, woman and child in Kentucky to attend Sunday School and to enlist for service in the Army of Christ.

Some of the good results in past years are an increase in attendance of more than one hundred per cent, an increase in enrollment of thousands, the bringing together in co-operative effort workers of many schools, the finding of hundreds who have become church members, the enlisting of some of the most capable and earnest teachers.

The 1918 campaign is expected to bring these results—
One Million People at Sunday School May 5th.
Sixty Thousand New Members Enrolled.

One Thousand Schools Contributing to the Kentucky Sunday School Association.

Four Thousand Churches of Kentucky Training Some New Members.

A Deepening of Love and Loyalty to our Country.

A Strengthening of the Feeling of Christian Brotherhood.

An Invitation Given to Everybody in Kentucky to Attend Sunday School and Church.

Reports and offerings of each Sunday School should be mailed promptly to the Kentucky Sunday School Association, 712 Louisville Trust Building, Louisville, Kentucky.

OUR SERVICE FLAGWOOL NOT SCARCE.

Dr. S. W. McClure, of Salt Lake, the Secretary of the National Wool Growers Association says there is a potential supply of 1,155,000,000 pounds of wool to meet an expected consumption of 700,000,000 pounds during 1918. He says the United States during the last three years has used annually 600,000,000 pounds, about 100,000,000 for the army and navy. The estimate is 100 pounds for each soldier. The conclusion is that allowing for an army of 2,000,000 men the consumption of wool this year should be 700,000,000 pounds, leaving a surplus of 455,000,000 for export. He concludes his report as follows:

"Naturally wool is high in price and it must remain so during the war. The cost of producing wool has increased by leaps and bounds in the past two years, so that wool growers are in no better position than before the war. The advance in the price of wool has not been so great as in most other commodities. The average price of the best fine, scoured wool in Boston for 1916 and the eleven years that preceded was 69 cents a pound; the average price of the same grade of wool in 1917 was $1.70. Wool has, therefore, a little more than doubled in price. It will probably remain on the present basis throughout the war. But an advance in the price of wool hurts the consumer less than in almost any other commodity."

"Taking wool at the present price, an all-wool suit of clothing would contain only from $4 to $6 worth of wool. Taking a suit retailing at from $30 to $35, and if it is made of all new wool, the wool in it would only cost from $4 to $6. Advances in the price of wool affect the consumer in but a small degree. But in important fact is that we have an adequate wool supply and no famine in sight, and an increased use of shoddy is unnecessary."

NOW FOR WILSON.

Upshur Woolridge quotes one of the colored hands as saying: "I ain't no Democrat, Mr. Woolridge, but if President Wilson runs agin I'm gwine to vote for him. I done vote agin him twice 'cause he warn't on my ticket, but I shure does admire a man what does things like he does. Any man what can make the days an hour longer and take all de railroads away from the rich folks and turn 'em over to his son-in-law has shore got sumpin' in him."

Further details of the fighting around Selcheprey show that the American troops were outnumbered in some instances eight to one. More of the American wounded were found and of whom was buried alive for days and had been trampled the enemy when he had to the surface, in the belief was dead. The American are considerably less than

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while filling, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks."

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Thedlor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he lained, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend all once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Thedlor's Black-Draught."

Thedlor's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it! NC-131

Fifty American soldiers, most of whom have been wounded or gassed, have been brought to this country from France by order of President Wilson to take part in the Liberty Loan campaign, according to an announcement made by the military authorities. The party, comprising enlisted men representing all branches of the army and commanded by regimental color Sergeant John J. Heffernan, arrived here on a transport Monday night. Sixteen will serve as loan speakers in the New York federal district and the others will be sent to various parts of the country. Six of the men wear French war crosses awarded for gallantry in action and all wear the gold "V" for foreign service. Many show by insignia on their right arms that they have been wounded.

Sunday brought no material change in the situation along the entire front over that of Saturday and it is not evident that the Germans are prepared for the present to resume the offensive, which has cost them so dearly in men killed, wounded or made prisoners. Reports coming by way of London are to the effect that in Germany there is much perturbation over the inability of the Teutons to pierce the allied line and nervousness and depression over the losses the Germans have sustained.

The Germans have been stripping the bodies of dead French soldiers in other sectors and wearing these clothes, have come over at that point where the French and American lines join. This method of attack was used during the attack on the Americans at Apremont forest two weeks ago. The Huns called out in French that they had come to assist the Americans, but the ruse was discovered and they were driven off.

Nothing new had come through yesterday either in the way of confirmation or denial of the reports in circulation Saturday that a counter-revolution had broken out in Petrograd and that Grand Duke Alexis Nikolaievich had been proclaimed emperor of Russia.

The Evansville Demokrat, which suspended as a German paper Sunday, intimated that it will soon appear as an English daily.

WORK WEARS ON THE KIDNEYS

Donn's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Hopkinsville.

Many Hopkinsville people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing inhorious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fail behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Donn's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys and bad backs. Their effective work in Hopkinsville is convincing proof.

St. J. Wills, 221 Seal Ave., Hopkinsville, says: "Overstraining at my work caused my kidneys to become weak. My back ached dreadfully and I was so sore and lame, I could hardly lift anything or do any stooping over. My kidneys acted too freely and annoyed me day and night. I used Donn's Kidney Pills as directed and they went right to the spot, ridding me of the backaches and putting my kidneys in good order."

Coalless Monday

By MARCIA MEREDITH

"Will you please get off the wire?" The voice, though young and feminine, was not entirely pleasant.

"I believe I took my receiver off first," came back good-naturedly. "I am trying to get the janitor. Are you the janitor's wife?"

"How ridiculous! Where is the elevator boy to answer the phone? I want the janitor."

A laugh came back through the telephone. "Everybody wants the janitor. The last I heard he had gone out to try and buy soft coal. I dare say you're in the same boat that I am—frozen to death in your apartment. You know it won't do any good to kick, but, like me, nothing else will keep you warm."

There was no answer. Freda Tilson's receiver slammed back on the hook that held it, and if she had been inclined to talk to herself in her little apartment she might have muttered something about an impatient creature who dared to talk to a girl when he did not know her, and that she hadn't the most remote idea who it was. That would have been a fit, however, for she really did know that it was the young man who dwelt in bachelor state in the somewhat more spacious and luxurious apartment in front of her own, the greatest luxury and higher rent of his apartment being due to the fact that while he managed to draw to himself a weekly check for $75 for writing "thrillers" for a popular weekly, she pounded a typewriter somewhere in the "downtown" district to the tune of sixty a month.

To her, having an apartment of her own, with a little place she could call home, was a luxury that she had earned by much economy in the way of amusement and pretty clothes. His living there was put down to his New England origin, for Victor Paige was more of a miser than a spendthrift, and he would rather dine alone on the simple fare that his visiting colored housekeeper made for him than to spend many dollars in alighting restaurants. Now it happened that the typewriter that Freda Tilson pounded was located in the very office whither Victor Paige occasionally strolled to deliver his manuscript, and perhaps chit-chat with the editor. Perhaps she felt a secret grievance, because, though she had noticed the coincidence that he frequented her office and also abode under the same roof, he had sought no excuse to speak to her as they passed in the halls going home or venturing forth. It does seem strange that Victor never sought the excuse, for Freda would have been good to speak to. And there was nothing repelling in her round blue eyes. But then, Victor came from New England.

As Freda performed the task of dusting and straightening up her little apartment, clad in the blue in a sweater and wearing gloves on her hands as she worked, she listened intently for a ring at her doorbell that would mean that the letter she was waiting for had come. When all chance of the delivery was over she descended to the entrance to make sure that the boy in attendance there had not failed to deliver it to her.

Strange that Victor Paige should have gone forth at the same time. He waited while she made her complaint. "In the first place," she said, "it is perfectly ridiculous that on the one day in the week when we have to be home, and when it would really seem that apartments and houses ought to have enough coal to make them comfortable, we should be made to suffer in this way. How I am ever going to write on my typewriter, with hands stiff from cold, is more than I can tell. It seems most extraordinary that my manuscripts did not come by the mail this morning. My office is closed, and it is absolutely necessary for me to typewrite some revised manuscript that the editor was sending by special delivery. Are you quite sure nothing has come for me?"

The dusky-skinned attendant nodded in the negative.

"And is there no hope of any heat?" Again a negative nod.

"Well, then, the only thing for me to do is to go and get some oil. Thank goodness, I bought a stove."

Now it was Victor's inning. Having heard Freda's plaint and the unsatisfactory replies, he did not mention the fright atmosphere that prevailed in his apartment as well as in hers.

"I say, Chadwick—beg pardon, I forgot your name was Hannibal—you haven't seen anything of a stray messenger boy with a typewriter, have you? Of course you haven't. But, you see, the place I usually dictate my copy in closed, and I was going to pound it out for myself today, so I sent for a typewriter. But I guess they had too many orders before mine. Well, if there's no hope for heat I'll have to burn oil."

And he returned to his rooms, calling the name of Dinah, who came every day at noon to keep house for him, blessed, because she had suggested to him that when steam heat failed the temperature could be improved by burning oil stoves.

The fact that fate had some deep design in choosing to have Victor Paige and Freda Tilson take apartments in the same house really might have been suspected when, a quarter of an hour later, another accidental meeting occurred. It was at the corner grocery. Freda came hurrying in with the base of an old stove, her self-consciousness at having to carry this awkward burden only making her cheeks pinker and her eyes rounder.

"Please fill this with oil," she told the grocer's boy, and then blushed a little roser as she realized that Victor Paige was standing at her elbow. He took his hat off, and then, when Freda averted her look he awkwardly waved his hat in the air and stroked the cat with the brim of it to try to convince himself that he had meant to take it off anyway and that he was not a bit embarrassed by Freda's hauteur.

"We ain't got no oil—oil sold out," came from the grocer's boy. Just as Victor Paige was inquiring of the grocer himself whether it happened that oil stoves were a part of his equipment. In the grocery store back in his New England home town he recalled that such trifling articles were always sold. And as the grocer assured him that the only places to get such things were the household furnishing stores, and they were all closed because it was coalless Monday, he confided to him. He knew the grocer didn't care, and he didn't care whether he did care, but he spoke in a loud, clear voice. Could it have been that it was for Freda's benefit?

"You see, the woman that keeps house for me suggested that if I bought some oil I could manage to keep warm, even when the steam was not up in the apartment, and I was such an ass as to forget that one really needed something to burn it in. I have a gallon of oil, but what good does that do?"

Freda did listen, and for just one moment she was tempted to tell her neighbor that between the two they might manage to get some sort of result. But she didn't tell him. She hurried home, walking faster and faster as she heard his footsteps behind her. He overtook her just as she reached the landing off which both their apartments opened, and would have spoken to her only that she closed the door rather unceremoniously in his face. She knew she had been rude, but for some unaccountable reason she took satisfaction in her heartlessness.

A half hour later, when Victor Paige answered a slight ring at his doorbell, he wore a skating cap, a bathrobe, an overcoat, hockey stockings and galoshes. He found Freda Tilson on the landing. She was very sorry to disturb him, she told him, but she had received word from the editor in the office where she worked that, because he had been unable to dispatch some copy for her to do at home, he would like her to put in the day taking dictation on the typewriter from Mr. Paige. Wasn't it funny that Mr. Paige happened to be connected with the same office? Did he wish to come into her apartment, or should she come into his? There was small choice; both were arctic.

Ten minutes later Victor Paige, carrying an odoriferous gallon of kerosene, some ill-kempt notes on stray bits of paper, and a dish of apples—Victor could not write without apples for refreshment—went into Freda's small apartment. When lunch time came Freda had forgotten her resentment, and Victor, truth to tell, was as much in love with her as he had ever been with any girl.

"If I had some eggs I'd make an omelet and ask you to lunch," she said. Just a little timidly.

And although Victor knew that his Dinah was coming to make lunch in his apartment that day, he hurried to get some eggs that he was right in guessing she had left in his ice box. And so they lunched, and so they worked on through the afternoon.

"What's the use of retreating the inevitable," he said as she handed him the last page of his manuscript from her typewriter. "We can't either of us get along without the other. We would both have been miserable today alone."

"It does seem strange. Do you believe in fate?"

And apparently Victor did, for he was always sure it was fate that threw him and his wife together that coalless Monday.

High Cost of Patches. There is no economy in patches. You may have a frugal wife who persists in patching your trousers, but you always feel miserable and degraded in such garments. They make you feel like a thief, or like 30 cents in counterfeit money. You are forever trying to hide them from view. . . . I have worn them myself and I know how uneasy a man feels in good society when he expects each gust of wind to fan his coat tails aside, exposing his wife's needlework. Jim writes in Cartoons. A patch in the seat of your trousers, if it be accidentally exposed in public, will reduce your market value 90 1/2 per cent. If you cannot afford so sudden and enormous a decline in your stocks, and are not prepared to cover margins, you'd better accept a fool's advice and unload your holey belongings upon the ragman before your wife gets out her darning needles and patch bag.

Strenuous Reform. "Tommy, you mustn't play with that little Grubbin' boy. His manners need mending."

"That's all right, ma. I'm working on his manners. If they don't improve in a day or two I lose my standing as the hardest bittin' kid in my block."

Feminine Finance. He—You must remember, dear, we are just starting out in life and we must economize.

She—But don't you think getting into debt is the best way? Then we'll have to economize.

His speech proved to be a very interesting feature of the meeting.

PATRIOTIC SERMON

DR. CALVIN M. THOMPSON TOLD SUNDAY ABOUT HIS VISIT TO CAMP SHELBY.

Rev. Calvin M. Thompson preached two patriotic sermons Sunday bearing upon his recent visit to Hattiesburg, Miss., and Camp Shelby. His address at night told of a great special service he held in the camp by invitation, addressing an audience of soldiers. His thrilling sermon was listened to by a very large congregation.

RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of Ned Meriwether Camp No. 241 U. C. V. held on the 27th day of April, 1918, the following resolutions were adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED:

That in the death of Comrade George B. Starling, who died on the 1st day of March, 1918, at his home in Christian county, Kentucky, the Camp has lost a most estimable and gallant comrade; the community and State of Kentucky an honorable and useful citizen, and the country a brave and patriotic soldier.

That we, the members of Ned Meriwether Camp No. 241 and fellow soldiers of our deceased brother, hereby express our sympathy with his bereaved family, and assure them of the high estimation in which George B. Starling was held by virtue of his fidelity and devotion as a soldier in the service of his country, as well as on account of his high character and genial companionship when in our midst.

That it be recorded that George B. Starling was born in Christian county, Kentucky, June 17th, 1837, and entered the Confederate army in 1861 Company A 1st Ky. Cavalry Regiment, and afterwards served in the 9th Ky. infantry, and later in Hildesheim's Missouri Battery Light Artillery. Was wounded during the siege at Fort Hudson, La., and captured at Fort Hudson July 9th, 1863, and afterwards reentered the service in the fall of 1863, and was paroled August 7th, 1863.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the record book of the Camp, and a copy sent to his widow, and copies to the local papers for publication.

HUNTER WOOD, Adjutant.

RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of Ned Meriwether Camp No. 241, U. C. V., held on April 27th, 1918, the following resolutions were adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED:

That in the death of our Comrade, Wilbur F. Randle, we have lost a most lovable and gallant comrade, and the community a valuable and useful citizen, and the country a brave and patriotic soldier.

That we, his surviving comrades, take this method of expressing our deep sympathy for his bereaved family, and to assure them of the high estimation and loving remembrance in which he is held by us on account of his fidelity and devotion as a soldier in the service of his country and on account of his high character as a citizen and Christian gentleman.

Wilbur F. Randle was born June 22, 1838, in Jefferson County, Illinois, and enlisted in the Confederate Army May 30th, 1861, in the 3rd Arkansas Regiment, and served under Major General W. J. Hardee, and General E. Kirby Smith in the Missouri department of the Confederate Army. Wilbur F. Randle lived in Christian County for nearly fifty years, having moved here from the State of Arkansas, and was engaged for some years in the mercantile business. He afterwards was incapacitated for work or business by reason of injuries received by a fall. He was always earnest in his efforts to promote the welfare, both in temporal and spiritual matters of the community in which he lived. He died in Hopkinsville, Kentucky, on the 16th day of April, 1918.

That these resolutions be spread on the minute books of the Camp, and a copy sent to the widow of our deceased comrade and to the local papers for publication.

W. P. WINFREE, Commander.
HUNTER WOOD, Adjutant.

ENGLISH PAPERS IN LOW SPIRITS

APPARENTLY PREPARING THEIR READERS FOR THE LOSS OF THE CHANNEL PORTS IN THE PRESENT DRIVE.

London, April 28.—Some of the newspapers appear to be preparing the public for the loss of the channel ports. The Times says:

"There is no denying that the loss of Kemmel hill in a considerable tactical success for the enemy, and it will be well, therefore, to prepare for the receipt of other disagreeable news. If the enemy is able to extend his grip on Kemmel, we may be compelled to evacuate Ypres. Such evacuation would not inevitably entail the abandonment of Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne but it is well to realize that these consequences might ensue. We must remember that the Germans cannot win the war by the occupation of Ypres and the channel ports."

The Evening News said: "The capture of Kemmel hill undoubtedly is a useful step in the direction of Calais and Boulogne, and it is frankly admitted that its loss gravely imperils Ypres. We hope and believe the channel ports will be saved. Yet we must face the fact that their loss comes within the range of contingencies to be reckoned with and we have already made up our minds that even if the worst should come to the worst it will make no difference to our vigorous prosecution of the war."

THE FOOD SLOGAN.

Recently the Indiana Food Administration advertised for a slogan and out of many the following was adopted:

"Reduce the eat in wheat and meat, And root the tute in substitute."

This sentiment won over "Fight the Kaiser in the kitchen."

"Food for Fighters First," Russell N. Edwards, 1841 Park avenue, Indianapolis.

"Save—The Kitchen is Your Fort," Florence Geisler, Indianapolis.

"Hooverize the Hohenzollerns," Mrs. J. C. Drysdale, Hall.

"Don't Stuff Your Husband, But Husband Your Stuff," Mary Elizabeth Kelley, Huntington.

"Tie the Garbage Can to the Dachs-hund's Tail," C. P. Miller, Indianapolis.

"If He-Hoovers Us To Save," Katherine Blakely, 601 Carroll avenue, Indianapolis.

"Not That We Love Food Less, But That We Love Liberty More," Merrill Clark, Indianapolis.

"Family Hold Back," Mrs. O. J. Thompson, Kokomo.

"With Hoover at the Helm We'll Overwhelm Wilhelm," George Gardner, Wabash.

"Don't Throw Your Food in the Alley, But Save it for Our Allies," Justin D. A. Clarke, Vincennes.

NEWSPAPER EMPLOYEES

NOT ENTITLED TO DEFERRED DRAFT CLASSIFICATION, GEN. CROWDER HOLDS.

Albany, N. Y., April 30.—Employees of newspapers, no matter in what capacity, are not entitled to deferred classification in the draft. Provost Marshal General Crowder has informed State authorities. By this decision he reversed a recent ruling by a Syracuse exemption board which held that a newspaper employee was a necessary assistant in a necessary industrial enterprise. The Provost Marshal General's order says:

"It appears that registrants engaged as employees of newspapers or engaged in general newspaper work are not engaged in an industrial enterprise within the meaning of the law and regulations. Hence it would follow that these employees are not entitled to deferred classifications."

PRINCESS TODAY.

Kitty Gordon, the internationally famous beauty and wonderfully successful star of motion pictures, in "The Wasp," one of the fastest sort of moving pictures. Kitty Gordon in this picture portrays the role of Grace Culver, known as "The Wasp" because of the stinging remarks she makes. But under this apparently callous and caustic exterior there beats a heart of pure gold. It is only to the man she comes to really and truly love that Grace displays her true character. The manner in which love comes into her life is unusual and surprising. You'll like this play. Willard Mack, the famous author of the great stage successes, "Tiger Rose" and "Blind Youth" has written a screen masterpiece in "The Wasp." See it by all means.
